PENCE UNVEILS PORTRAITS OF PREDECESSORS

Washington, Jan 27, 2004 - Washington, D.C.- Congressman Mike Pence was joined in his office today by former Members of Congress and their families to unveil portraits of former members who served east central Indiana. The project honors 24 former Members of Congress who represented the east central Indiana region that Pence now represents. Their portraits now adorn the lobby of Pence's Washington, D.C. office.

"This project is a continual reminder that this office belongs to the people of the 6th Congressional District of Indiana and not to any one public servant," said Pence. "It's appropriate when constituents visit our office that they see the honorable people who have represented them in Congress since our state's inception."

Pence welcomed his predecessor Congressman David McIntosh and the family of Congressman David W. Dennis of Richmond to the office for the unveiling.

David W. "Will" Dennis II, the grandson and namesake of Congressman Dennis attended the ceremony and unveiled the portrait of his grandfather.

"I am honored to be joined by my distinguished predecessors and their families for this meaningful event in the life of east central Indiana's office in Washington D.C.," said Pence.
